

ALL FERRARIS SHOULD BE RED

By Cathy Roush

Now that I have your attention.

Pretty radical statement, don't you think? But Enzo Ferrari once said, "ask a child to draw a car, and certainly, he will draw it red."

Let's start with the obvious ... Testa Rossa? Definition is red head (whether you're referring to the two-word or one-word model). I know, I know ... what about Sonny Crockett's WHITE Testarossa in Miami Vice.

Do YOU want a white Testarossa? Can you (still) pull off the pastel shirt unbuttoned nearly to your belly button like Don Johnson? Case closed.

Picture a Daytona. I bet you see red (no pun intended ... okay, maybe pun intended). Remember my lottery dreams? Yep, it'll be red.

F40? F50? Enzo? 288 GTO? Looks downright weird in any color but red.

And while I'm on the subject, what OTHER color should Scuderia Ferrari swath their race cars? Used to be called Marlboro red, but I'm not here to promote cigarette smoking.

Traditionally speaking, 308s, 328s, 360s, 430s, 458s, 488s, F8s -- these models also look best in red, but I don't deny that black, yellow, blue or silver still ensure the car is recognized as Ferrari.

Come on, does RED look good on a Lamborghini? No, it does not. As opposed to their Verde Mantis (aka green).

Some atrocious color combinations are out there. The spotting of one by a subscriber prompted this article.

It was the F430 Spider F1 in Marrone 1971. Recently offered on BringATrailer, I saw it at Amelia Island in 2019 when RM Sotheby's had it for auction. Promoted as "a color more commonly found on Dinosaurs, Daytonas, and 365 GTC/4s. The result is a spectacular F430, believed to be the only example finished in this color". The interior is beige, so it's not as bad as it could be.

In Italian, marrone translates to brown. I read an article recently that started out this way: for the most part, brown is a color that doesn't look good adorning the exterior of a car. The article was written about a Roma that had been designed through Ferrari's Tailor-Made program.

That article didn't have the official color of the Roma and my research on the Ispirazione cars has a dark amber, a copper hue to the man on the street -- inspired by 330 GTC, perhaps S/N 10463; a Bronze Montecarlo, inspired by bronze and beige tones; and a marrone metallic, inspired by warm nuances. But definitely all three are shades of brown.

To say nothing of the color Prugna ... you can call it Burgundy, Bordeaux, Claret, Cabernet - take your pick of the red wines out there, but there is no mistaking it's the color of ... yes ... a prune.

As I was writing this article, a prugna 308 GTS QV came up on offer at BringATrailer. One follower made this comment: I love the fact this it can change color in different light. Appropriately, this car's license plate is PRUGNA1. Just so there's no mistaking the color.

If you're in the mood for one of those red wine colors, how about Rosso Vinaccia; it's a little darker than prugna, and if I may, the name is much more appetizing. It's on a handful of 612 Scaglietti, even more 599s, several 430s and 458s, and one LaFerrari. That's a tall glass of ... wine.

Purple? Yep -- SEEN IT. Couple of Dinosaurs. Get it? Dino? Barney the Dinosaur. Or the purple (Viola Hong Kong) SF90 Spider recently spotted at Spa Francorchamps.

Green. There's a color often seen on a Ferrari. Cue Barry Cross in his green 308 GTSi.

There are close to 30 different shades of green that a Ferrari has been seen painted. I don't have the proper names down pat -- database entries can be quite interesting.

Verde Germoglio on an 812 GTS. Think Lamborghini -- or the grinch. That's it. This should be rare on a Ferrari, but there are a few out there paying homage to a certain 246 GTS.

There's the Verde Nijinsky 365 GTC/4 (S/N 15323), described as olive green. You get the picture.

Remember Verde Jewel -- first seen on five cars with 70th Anniversary livery, inspired by David Piper.

Verde British Racing is not that rare, although I would argue it should be on a Jaguar due to the name's reference to England.

Now let's switch it around -- green interior? It's out there. In a white Daytona, no less, S/N 13745. Yellow with green interior is on a European Testarossa. Circle back to the title of this article.

While we're talking greens, how about a Christmas Ferrari? Tis the season. Took me a while to find it, but there's 308 GT4, S/N 10286, painted mint green, black interior but red piping, and red carpets.

A Portofino in Japan is green with red seats. Ho, ho, ho.

So, you argue ... if not red, what? Currently, Ferrari offers its customers more than 30 distinct colors, including shades of silver, yellow, green, blue, black, white, and red. Special clients can create their own colors.

You know I see a lot of Ferraris. And I've seen a lot of color combinations. Some make me think, ooooh, that's LOVELY.

Others make me think 'Hail! to the conqu'ring heroes'. Recognize that? Michigan, Let's go blue ... with yellow interior. There's a RHD 575M Maranello in Blu Tour de France with yellow interior – probably a Mansfield fan, or Everton. No, I didn't know that off the top of my head; I Googled it.

I've seen more of the reverse, yellow with blue interior. 550 Barchetta #321/448, S/N 124299 ... shown at Cavallino in 2017 – when I asked the owner if he was a Wolverine, he said the original owner had been.

There must be lots of Michigan fans out there; after all, The Big House has hosted crowds in excess of 115,000. Recently an F8 Tributo was offered in Giallo Modena with (albeit) Baby Blu leather. And a 360 Modena, Giallo Modena with Blu Scuro. I could go on.

While we're on the subject of football, more than once I've seen MY team's colors (orange and blue). I don't recall orange exterior (Arancia or Rosso Dino, if you prefer – still a shade of red if you want to get picky) with blue interior, but I have seen blue exterior with cuoio interior.

A 488 GTB in at Foreign Cars Italia had Blu Tour de France exterior with cuoio interior. Cuoio is about as close to a shade of orange as I think we can get for a standard interior. I took a picture and sent it to some Auburn fans and said THIS is what I've been looking for. Can't you just see an AU magnet on the doors? How popular would I be at tailgate.

Or an SF90 Stradale, currently at Ferrari of Ontario. The exterior is Blu Abu Dhabi, but the interior is Arancia. Now we're talking.

January 2022 offered in Arizona by RM Sotheby's, was 330 GTS S/N 9805 whose original colors were Blu Sera and trimmed in Arancia leather, per Marcel Masini. Presently in red with tan, audible sigh. I bet those guys at Perfect Reflections would put it back right for me.

I would be remiss without mentioning another PERSONAL favorite: the Ferrari Market Letter-themed livery. Giallo Modena with Rosso Ferrari interior. Lately spotted in an 812 Superfast (although technically it was Giallo Triplo Strato). It begs to have our logo somewhere on its chassis.

Red with yellow interior was a little harder to find in the database, but apparently there is a red with FULL yellow interior 430 Berlinetta somewhere in Spain. Yellow interior isn't rare, but the combination of red exterior with yellow interior is – I found many cars that were black with yellow interior, even yellow with yellow interior.

In 2006 a 430 Spider was shown at Cavallino, S/N 145852. It is Giallo Modena with yellow Daytona seats, yellow dash and steering wheel – even yellow carpet. Get those sunglasses on.

Ferrari collector Phil Bachman would agree about a yellow exterior; conversely, Peter Kalikow was surely the inspiration behind a recent article on ClassicDriver.com: We love Ferraris in any color – as long as they are blue.

They say beauty is in the eye of the beholder, but there are certain celebrities who will not be holding a Ferrari in the future. They have been banned from purchasing a new Ferrari for their personalization.

There was Justin Bieber, with his neon blue 458 Italia. It was originally white. There's usually nothing wrong with a blue Ferrari; I think he should have been banned because he 'misplaced' the car for three weeks. That's a whole 'nother story.

In 2013, Deadmau5 took his 458 Spider and put a custom-wrap on it of the Nyan Cat. He added custom badges and floor mats and renamed the car Purrari. Clever; nonetheless, I hadn't even heard of this celebrity before researching this theme.

Blac Chyna is another because of a Ferrari she had repainted in Barbie Pink. Perhaps were she a Mary Kay consultant, but of course, the vehicle would be a Cadillac, not a Ferrari.

If you've got to have a red Ferrari, like me – there are shades and shades of red and my title is meant to include all of those shades. Rosso Barchetta, Rosso Cina, Rosso Fiorano, Rosso Mugello, Rosso Rubino.

I don't think these models look good in Rosso Corsa: Lusso, any of the 330s, 456, FF, GTC4Lusso, or the Roma. Not for me. But there was a Rubino Micalizzato FF recently sold by F40. That color looked nice on the car; and there was a Rosso Fiorano F355 Spider at Ferrari of Atlanta that was quite lovely.

Rosso Dino with nero interior isn't that rare. ISSIMI had a Scuderia Spider 16M, S/N 167255, on offer. BOO! But it's not as orange as Arancia, like 365 GTC/4 S/N 15087, which also has black interior.

Googling "Ferrari Red" brought up 15 shades. New ones being brewed with each model. Rosso Portofino, Rosso California, just for starters.

Statistics state about 40 percent of the new cars that Ferrari sells are red. This might seem like a huge number, but compare it to the early 1990s – where over 85 percent of new cars were ordered in red.

Lest I irritate, or heaven forbid, alienate you, dear reader...they don't call it Resale Red for nothing!

Before you shoot off an e-mail lambasting me, remember, this is just my opinion and meant to be taken tongue-in-cheek. Clearly not ALL Ferraris should be red. But I think you'll agree, some models DO look better in red. I say tom-ay-to, you say tom-ah-toe.

RM Sotheby's Miami 10 December 2022

365 GTB/4 SPYDER, S/N 16835 (1973). Rosso Chiaro with nero interior. Estimate $2 million to $2.4 million. The 89th of 121 examples built. Specified in left-hand-drive with instruments in miles and equipped with air conditioning and a Becker Mexico radio. Completed assembly in March 1973, it was distributed to Hollywood Sports Cars. In October it was sold to its first owner of record, James Levitt of Beverly Hills, California. Mr. Levitt retained possession of the car for three years before selling it in 1976 to motorcycle stuntman Robert Craig "Evel" Knievel. He reportedly experienced great difficulty getting in and out of the Ferrari, and consequently sold the car later that year to disc jockey Frankie Crocker. He later moved to Beverly Hills, as registrations on file reflect. Serviced at Hollywood Sports Cars in March 1986 and odometer reflected 22,571 miles of use. Mr. Crocker owned the Ferrari for nearly 20 years, along the way commissioning a repaint by noted Bill DeCarr. In January 1997 the Daytona was acquired by Terry Price of Gazelle, California, and he sold the spyder a few years later to Major League Baseball slugger, Reggie Jackson. During his ownership he commissioned the installation of a new interior and mounted new Borrani wire wheels. In late 2008, Grand Prix Motors in Campbell, California, rebuilt the carburetors, suspension, brakes, and exhaust system. When he offered the car for sale in January 2011, the odometer displayed 26,889 miles. Purchased then by the consignor, it has continued to benefit from regular maintenance while accruing an average of 222 miles per year. Believed to never have been the subject of a comprehensive restoration. Complete tool roll, a period Shell dust cloth, a full set of books in leather pouch, including the owner's manual, warranty card, the "sales and assistance service" booklet, and a Becker radio manual and associated service booklet. Documented with prior registration reflecting Frankie Crocker's ownership, Reggie Jackson's restoration invoices, and Ferrari dealer service invoices dating back to 2011. Currently displaying 29,431 miles, believed to be original. Lot 153. Sold for $2.2 million.

365 GT4/BB, S/N 17927 (1974). Rosso Dino with black Boxer trim, crema interior. Estimate $300,000 to $400,000. No reserve. Dispatched to Dino Ravasio & Sons of Verona in June of 1974 and sold to its first owner that July. Sold in 1981 to the late Aldo Cudone, in whose stable it would remain for the next two decades. The car underwent a major service in 2009, which included new factory exhaust pipes and overhaul of the air conditioning system. Service records are included. Numerous factory and dealer-supplied materials accompany the car, including a 1974 service and sales book, guarantee card, radio instructions, spare parts catalogue, and instruction manual, in the leather pouches. Classiche Certificate of Authenticity, history report and a data sheet issued by the Automobile Club of Italy. Freshly serviced prior to the sale, including cambelts, and a thorough detail. Lot 139. Sold for 335,000.

512 BB, S/N 27117 (1979). Rosso Chiaro with nero interior. Estimate $275,000 to $300,000. Imported by Chinetti for Southern Californian, Donald L. Weber. As with all "gray-market" examples, it was federalized by Automotive Compliance, Inc., of Harbor City, California. Correspondence and paperwork on file detail purchase, import and subsequent federalization. By 1985, Weber saw fit to undertake a limited series of modifications, enlisting Richard's Interiors of Van Nuys, California, to install red-dyed headliner, red carpets, and red door panels, as well as red piping on the black leather seats. A MOMO Prototipo steering wheel, and velocity stacks atop its Weber carburetors in place of the stock air cleaner. Weber would retain the 512 BB for the rest of his life, with the car gaining only its second caretaker when it entered The Rey collection in 2021. 4,458 miles. Routine maintenance with invoices on file dated 2013–2014 indicate fuel and cooling system work, as well as an engine-out service and carburetor cleaning. Maintenance has continued under present ownership, including an additional engine-out service completed in October 2022. Lot 142. Sold for $250,000.

F512M, VIN ZFFVG40A3S0102690 (1995). Rosso corsa with beige interior. Estimate $400,000 to $450,000. The 52nd of 75 US-market cars produced. Complete with Castoro ("beaver") carpets. The window sticker shows it was delivered new to Cavallino Classics of Scottsdale, Arizona, in early 1996. Sold thereafter to its first recorded owner, the car is believed to have resided in Nebraska with its original owner until at least November 1998, and then moved to California under new ownership sometime between 1999 and 2002. By October 2009 it was purchased by the consignor, who exported it to Kuwait. Since then the F512 M has traveled approximately 300 miles, with fewer than 10,200 miles indicated. Service invoices on file. In September 2021, the dealer in Kuwait furnished new engine belts, gaskets, filters, spark plugs, and fluids.

Window sticker, manuals, and service invoices, factory tool kit with leather case. Offered from The Youngtimer Collection. Lot 119. Sold for $533,000.

F50, VIN ZFFTA46B000103274 (1995). Rosso corsa with nero interior. Estimate $5.5 million to $6.5 million. The eighth of 349 examples built, it commenced assembly in July 1995. Completed in October, it was delivered in November 1995 to the car's first owner, a dealership in Singapore called Hong Seh Motors. The Ferrari was kept as a personal car by the dealership's principal, Alfred Tan. Mr. Tan reportedly stored the F50 at his home in a pristine state for many years, never driving the car. In 2013, after 18 years of ownership, Mr. Tan sold the Ferrari to Texas. It has been serviced ever since, while only being driven for minimal exercise miles and occasional enjoyment. In June 2014 the car was certified with a Classiche Red Book. More recently, an October 2022 invoice on file attests the car benefitted from an inspection and service. Currently displaying 625 miles. Accompanied by fitted luggage, and the flight case for the removable hardtop. It is documented with a 1995 certificate of origin, factory purchase order, bill of lading for export to Singapore, service invoices from Norwood Auto Italia, history by Marcel Massini, and the Classiche Red Book. Lot 131. Sold for $5.4 million.

ENZO FERRARI, VIN ZFFCW56A330133916 (2003). Rosso corsa with rosso and nero interior. Estimate $3.25 million to $3.75 million. Assembled in June 2003, specified for delivery to the United States. In November 2003 it was reportedly sold new through São Paulo, Brazil, dealer Via Europa Ltda, and by July 2004 the car was titled in Beverly Hills, California. By October 2004 it was purchased by a collector based in Glen Cove, New York, and was serviced several times over the next few years by Ferrari of Long Island. After 10 years the Long Island-based owner decided to sell, and the car was acquired circa August 2014 by its third owner living in South Carolina. It was serviced in May 2017 by Foreign Cars Italia. In 2020 it was Classiche certified, however, the original Red Book has been lost, and the consignor has ordered a replacement through Ferrari that will be made available to the buyer. Acquired by the consignor, a Florida-based collector who is believed to be the car's fourth owner. Serviced in March 2022 by Ferrari of Fort Lauderdale, including the installation of a new battery and mounting of new Bridgestone Potenza tires. 11,870 miles. Lot 148. Sold for $3.2 million.

Mr. Allen retained possession for 13 years. It was offered in July 2003 with 1,600 miles. Sold to Michael Warn of Oregon, in October 2003. In June 2007 the Ferrari was acquired by a dealer in Laguna Niguel, California, who had the car serviced. It received Classiche Red Book certification. Sold in March 2008 and again later when it was purchased by a collector in Darien, Connecticut. In October 2011 the car was sold to Florida before being acquired by the consignor in 2019. Displaying 2,736 miles. Well documented with Massini history, warranty booklet, prior titles, bills of sale, and a service invoice. Owner's manuals, pouch, tools, and Schedoni fitted luggage. 246 DINO BUMPERS: U.S. VERSION - FOUR BRAND NEW, still in factory packaging ... never opened. These bumpers have never been used. In 1979, at the age of 19, I bought my first Ferrari in Modena, Italy. Knowing that I would have to bring the car up to DOT and EPA specs, I went to the Ferrari Factory in Maranello Italy and bought four extra bumpers at the factory (because I was afraid I might screw things up when modifying the existing European version bumpers while attempting to meet DOT specs). The bumpers are STILL in the factory plastic and tape, and they have never been touched by human hand since the summer of 1979. $6,000 USD OBO. 4723
